Military Rulers Swear In New Korean Cabinet

South African Negro Groups Split On Strike

JOHANNESBURG South Africa (AP) — A split emerged Sunday between rival Negro organizations that could wreck plans for a strike against the white government next week and help provoke widespread violence.

If the division proves serious, clashes are bound to erupt between rival agitators trying on one side to persuade South Africa's urban Negroes to go to work or, on the other, to stay home and join the walkout. Heavily mobilized white police and troops then would step in, inflaming tempers even more.

Spokesmen for the Negroes — who number 11 million of South Africa's 15 million population — and provide the low-wage base for the economy — have called for a work stoppage and protest demonstrations May 29-31 against a proclamation of a new South African republic on the last day of the month.

The Negroes demand voting rights for all nonwhites before South Africa leaves the British Commonwealth. Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's government has rejected their demand and banned all public demonstrations. Citizen militia units have been called up. Troops have been put on the alert. Police have been augmented.

Under this pressure two rival Negro organizations fell to feuding. They are the African National Congress and the Pan-African Congress, both outlawed since last year's racial violence. Their leaders work underground.

The ANC started the strike movement, but the PAC refused to go along. Last year the PAC started demonstrations that led to nationwide racial violence — and the ANC refused to join in. The PAC is a militant offshoot of the older ANC.

Johnson Winds Up Asian Tour

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson completed a six-nation tour around the Asian rim of Red China and the Soviet Union Sunday and said on his arrival in Athens he was strengthened and encouraged.

Talks with leaders of South Vietnam, the Philippines, Nationalist China, Thailand, India and Pakistan were frank and candid, said Johnson, who made the trip for President Kennedy.

Problems discussed included the fight on "disease, poverty and illiteracy, the allies of dictatorship and totalitarianism," he added. "We sought to find a way that would permit a universal education for the young and some security for the old."

"We came away strengthened and encouraged. We did not find all the answers. But I am an optimist, and I believe that the world tomorrow will be a better place than it is today. We have done our best to make our mission responsible, productive and purposeful. We think we have."

Tornadoes Sighted In Southern Plains

By United Press International
Funnel clouds swirled through the Southern plains' tornado alley Sunday.

At least six tornado sightings were reported in Oklahoma. Three were spotted near Stillwater and another near Yukon. A twister touched down two miles south of Cushing, flattening three farm homes. Another funnel cloud was seen in the same area.

Curfew, Other Restrictions Are Relaxed

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's military rulers swore in their handpicked Cabinet Sunday, relaxed the curfew, fed the poor and continued mass arrests.

It was business as usual in government offices and banks under the new seven-day austerity work week proclaimed by the military men who overthrew the civilian government of John M. Chang last week.

Ordinary citizens were able to resume a semblance of normal life as the night curfew hour was advanced from 10 to 11 p.m. Theaters reopened and happy throngs flocked to them as if nothing had happened.

Some restrictions on foreign travel also were relaxed. But rigid press and information controls continued in full force, barring any criticism of the regime's slowly developing policies.

Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young, 38, nominal leader of the insurrection, assumed the double office of prime minister and defense minister and installed his Cabinet of 14 military officers.

Absent from the Cabinet list was Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-hi, 44, generally regarded as the master planner behind the smoothly organized army coup. He apparently preferred to continue his work in the background as the military group's chief political strategist.

The swearing-in ceremony was held in the National Assembly building, guarded by paratroopers with machine guns and pistols. The assemblymen have been sent home. It was a martial affair with much saluting, followed by triumphant handshakes among the youthful officers now moving into politics.

There was little doubt, however, that the power lay in the 30-man "Supreme Council for National Reconstruction" formed in last Tuesday's military coup. This group of generals and colonels was seated on a raised platform facing the new Cabinet. Officers in both groups wore combat fatigues or khakis.

Gen. Chang, who is chief of both the council and the new Cabinet, gave the new ministers a list of his objectives — strengthening the nation's anti-Communist structure, upholding the U.N. Charter and furthering friendly ties with allies, rooting out corruption, raising the standard of living by developing the economy and working for reunification of Korea "by excelling in competition against the (North Korean) Communists."

Free Rice Distributed

Acting on its pledges to ease the suffering of South Korea's masses, the military distributed free rice in Seoul's slums. To spread the rice supply, Gen. Chang has urged Koreans to eat more barley.

A crackdown on hoodlums went on. About 3,000 were reported under arrest across the nation.

Some spectators appeared to be shocked at the sight of a so-called humiliation parade of 100 hoodlums marched through Seoul by paratroopers. Some were tied together in groups of three and many carried signs reading, "We are hoodlums. We are ready to accept the people's judgment. We will lead a clean life from now on."

The captives were taken to the courtyard of a police station. Eyewitnesses said they were ordered to crouch on hands and knees for several minutes.

Mother Asks Hangman To Spare Her Son's Life

LONDON (AP) — Britain's public hangman received an anguished appeal for mercy Sunday from the mother of a young murderer condemned to die four days from now.

"This sort of thing upsets me," said the hangman, Henry Allen. But, he added, there is nothing he can do about it.

Allen has been assigned to execute Victor Terry, 20, on Thursday morning for the murder of a bank guard. Terry's mother wrote a personal letter to the hangman after vainly trying to win public and official support for her plea that her son be saved from the gallows.

"If you can find it in your heart to spare his life, I shall be the most grateful mother, as I cannot bear the thought of parting with him," her letter said. Terry was condemned last

Jailbreaker's Capture Ends Vast Manhunt

KEENE, N.H. (AP) — One of New England's most massive manhunts came to an end Sunday with the meek capture of Norman Porter Jr. in predawn darkness while he was looting a market of cash, food and beer.

Porter, 21, had played hide-and-seek with thousands of police and the FBI for a week. Porter and a jail companion broke out of Middlesex County jail, Cambridge, Mass., on Mother's Day, leaving behind a slain jail warden.

Warden David S. Robinson, 53, was shot through the head as he tried to prevent the escape of Porter and Edgar Cook, 48. Cook committed suicide Wednesday night as police closed in on his Boston hideout.

Porter was awaiting trial on a charge of murdering a store clerk.

Two alert policemen flushed Porter out of Parie's market store in Keene. Previously the search had concentrated on southeastern Massachusetts, particularly on Cape Cod where Porter's fingerprints had been found on stolen cars.

Patrolman Francis Donahue spotted a car outside the market about 3 a.m. In it were a cash till, a saw, canned goods, four quarts of milk, cigarettes, cookies, bread and beer.

Donahue figured they had been stolen from the market and called from his patrol cruiser for help. Officer Thomas Lacroix responded. With drawn revolvers, one entered from the front and the other from the rear.

Donahue gave this description of the capture: "I walked in the front door, saw something behind the meat cabinet down at the end of the store. I stayed there for a few seconds to see what direction he would take. He glided along the meat cabinet."

"He got about 15 feet from me and I cocked my revolver and flashed the light in his eyes."

"I told him to scratch the ceiling or he'd kiss the floor. He yelled, 'Don't shoot, don't shoot, I'm not armed.' He put up his arms quick."

Donahue and Lacroix snapped cuffs on Porter. A search revealed a five-inch knife. Porter also had a .44-caliber revolver in the car.

Cuban Rebel Ransom Fund Drive Pushed

Council President Confident Castro Terms Will Be Met

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An unparalleled search for millions of dollars to ransom insurgent prisoners from Communist-tinged Cuba went forward Sunday, inspired by the arrival of 10 representatives of the captives.

The Cuban Revolutionary Council, which organized the April 17 invasion that resulted in the capture of 1,200 men, announced it would direct the campaign for their release.

Jose Miro Cardona, council president, expressed confidence that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's terms could be met. The Cuban prime minister offered to release the prisoners for 500 American tractors or bulldozers.

The prisoner representatives remained at a Miami Beach hotel to await results. If something positive materializes by Tuesday afternoon they may remain four days more to see the deal through. They arrived unescorted Saturday by airliner from Havana.

Paulay Donates $25,000
Miro Cardona said after conferring with the prisoners at his sick bed Saturday night that he will open a ransom account Monday in a Miami bank.

Already on hand are a $25,000 donation from William D. Pawley, former U.S. ambassador to Cuba, and a $25,000 loan from the Miami National Bank.

Antonio de Varona, revolutionary council member, rushed to Miami from Washington and conferred with Miro Cardona.

The campaign for funds in the strange ransom operation was pressed on many fronts. The Miami News called on "free people throughout the Americas" to contribute since "we believe a human life is priceless."

Committee Organized
In Detroit, a committee including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower and labor leader Walter P. Reuther was formed to raise funds.

Cuban exiles and other groups joined in the campaign.

In Geneva, International Red Cross Committee President Leopold Boissier said the organization is eager to help free the captives. Boissier declined comment on the merit of Castro's offer but declared, "We would do our utmost for these people without mixing in politics. We care for people, not for governments."

Boissier expressed confidence that Castro would not object to Red Cross supervision in the prisoner deal.

U.S., British Map Laos Strategy

GENEVA (UPI) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, now heading the U.S. delegation to the Laos conference, conferred with his British colleagues Sunday on coordinating strategy for the weeks and perhaps months of bargaining ahead.

The American, British and French foreign ministers returned home this weekend and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chen Yi are the only "big names" remaining at the conference table.

Harriman had a "working supper" with Malcolm MacDonald, now heading the British delegation to the 14-nation conference. The conference resumes Monday afternoon after a Pentecost weekend recess.

Communist Poland, one of the members of the three-nation International Control Commission (ICC) in Laos, leads off Monday's speeches, followed by Burma or Thailand. The Polish delegation is headed by Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki.

Atty. Gen. Kennedy Reports To President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Sunday reported personally by telephone to President Kennedy on the tense situation in Montgomery, Ala., where Negro leaders and white supremacists braced for a showdown on segregation.

What, if anything, they decided was not immediately disclosed.

Sens. Bridges, Gore Split Over JCS Cuba Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., endorsed the Joint Chiefs of Staff Sunday while Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., charged anew that the top military men "blundered incredibly" in the Cuban invasion and should be ousted.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a member of the Foreign Relations subcommittee investigating the cause of the invasion's failure, said both the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency must share in the blame.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana remarked in a separate interview that "there is blame enough for all." Asked about Gore's demand Friday that the five top military chiefs be replaced, Mansfield replied: "This is the sole responsibility of the President. He appointed them and he alone will determine whether he wants to make any changes."

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee and is a member of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, took Gore to task for the Tennessee senator's statement — after closed-door testimony by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the joint chiefs — that the military leaders ought to be fired.

"To me," Bridges said in a statement, "the senator's words are ill-advised because they could only diminish our prestige abroad, raise doubts at home about our military security and damage morale in the armed forces."

"Such a proposal can scarcely help President Kennedy in his meeting with the heads of state of Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union in the next 10 days."

"It seems to be an American habit to look for goats when something goes wrong. President Kennedy has assumed full responsibility for the Cuban decision, a decision which only he could make. 'Blanket firing of generals and admirals may make headlines, but it could do untold damages in critical areas of our security. I have confidence in the able members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.'"

Gore said in a statement Sunday that after listening to the testimony "I find it perfectly incredible that career military officers, charged with such high responsibility, could certify as a feasible military undertaking the uncoordinated plan of a few hundred ill-equipped Cuban exiles to invade Cuba."

"It was a miserable failure — there were no reserve forces to back up the so-called 'expedition.' I acknowledge that my conclusion is that of a layman with the benefit of hindsight, but high military authorities are expected to exercise some military forethought."

'Villain' Roles Given Military On TV Scored

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Army historian complains that TV Westerns are wrecking the image of military heroes of the old West by tending to portray soldiers in villainous, offbeat roles — particularly the officers.

"This is erroneous, outrageous and dangerous type-casting," said Lt. Col. William Gardner Bell. He added that this has sprung up in the last year or so and is snowballing.

The colonel, writing in the current issue of Armor magazine, takes to task specific programs of such TV shows as "Wagon Train," "Bronco," "Riverboat," "Death Valley," "Bonanza," "The Rifleman" and "Have Gun, Will Travel."

IBP Proposed By Biologists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three prominent American scientists Sunday called for an International Biological Project to marshal the skills of the world's biologists in a coordinated attack on problems like cancer.

It would be patterned after the recent International Geophysical Year — IGY — during which specialists in the nonbiological sciences conducted history's greatest cooperative effort towards learning more about the earth, its oceans and the atmosphere enveloping it.

But the IBP would require much longer than the 18 months of the IGY, the trio of scientists said in remarks prepared for Georgetown University's televised "Forum" program and it might take from five to seven years just to organize it.

The speakers were Dr. Theodore C. Byerly, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Research Division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a zoologist; Dr. Hiden T. Cox, executive director of the 85,000-member American Institute of Biological Sciences, a botanist; and Dr. Roger D. Reid, director of the Biological Sciences Division of the Office of Naval Research, a microbiologist.

U.S. Sailors Rout Pacifist Boarders With Fire Hose

DUNOON, Scotland (AP) — American sailors squirting fire hoses hurled back a wave of pacifist demonstrators trying to clamor aboard the Polaris submarine base ship Proteus in Scotland's Holy Loch Sunday.

A flotilla of 11 canoes dodged the police and navy launches and carried the demonstrators — four women among them — out to the Proteus anchorage. With 1,000 more demonstrators on shore, it was the largest protest yet staged against the newly activated nuclear submarine base here — and the wettest.

Police arrested 38 demonstrators but released them later. Several of the demonstrators produced heavy steel nuts and bolts they said had been hurled at them by the sailors.

French Move Places Rebels On Defensive

EVIAN-LES-BAINS, France, (AP) — France appeared Sunday have registered a solid psychological gain at the start of peace talks with the Algerian rebels. The rebels seemed clearly on the defensive following Saturday's brief opening session.

France got the ball rolling with a dramatic announcement that of offensive action by her 500,000 troops in Algeria would be halted for at least a month, then reviewed on the basis of what is happening in the talks here. The French reserved the right to reply to rebel gunfire and terrorism.

France also released from imprisonment five ministers of the rebel provisional government and set them up in a luxurious chalet where they will be under French surveillance, but able to contact their colleagues by telephone. In addition, France announced the liberation, within a month, of 6,000 Algerians held for nationalist activities.

There was general agreement among neutrals that France was in a firm position, psychologically at least, as her negotiators prepared to continue the talks with the rebels Tuesday.

The rebels responded to the French moves by "rejecting" the unilateral French decision to halt offensive operations, saying France had still not agreed to "associate" the rebel ministers with the peace talks, and contending that the 6,000 Algerian detainees represented only a small proportion of the total held.

Nazis Plan Trip, Ask Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Nazi Party announced Sunday it plans to send a bus load of passengers from Washington to New Orleans and asked federal protection from "Jew and Negro hoodlums."

The bus is scheduled to leave early Monday.

The Nazi Party is headed by George Lincoln Rockwell, a printer of nearby Arlington, Va. The State of Virginia recently granted the organization a charter.

Montgomery Martial Law Proclaimed

Mob Storms Negro Meeting, Battles Police, Marshals

By JEROME BRAZDA
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Severe rioting broke out Sunday night outside a rally of integrationists despite the intervention of U.S. marshals and Gov. John Patterson proclaimed martial law.

Whites charged through a cordoned off federal officers and stormed a Negro mass meeting inside the First Baptist Church. They attacked with rocks and clubs.

Montgomery city police counter-attacked with fire hoses and tear gas. Even the marshals retreated as municipal forces moved in.

As the battle raged, Gov. Patterson prepared to mobilize National Guard units under a proclamation of martial law.

State Public Service Director Floyd H. Mann put in a call to the National Guard and asked "where the 100 National Guardsmen are" — apparently referring to a reserve force.

"It's rough out there," Mann said with his eyes streaming from tear gas. "We got to have some help soon."

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro leader of integrationists, was speaking inside the Negro church. Among the audience were 18 freedom riders whose campaign exploded into violence at the Montgomery bus station Saturday.

Car Overturned, Set Afire

In the barely 38 hours since then, U.S. marshals had assembled here on orders from President Kennedy and 100 ringed the church.

Violence broke out swiftly Sunday night after a group of white youths overturned a car and set it afire. It was believed to be a federal officer's car.

As the car blazed up in the night, a roar of jeering arose, stones and then rocks were thrown. Then the crowd charged the ring of U.S. officers. That was the signal for Montgomery police who attacked in force. The battle raged outside the church.

Inside, the Rev. Mr. King called for a "massive campaign to end segregation in Alabama." He said Alabama had become "the scene of a literal reign of terror."

"It has sunk to the level of a barbarity comparable to the tragic days of Hitler's Germany," King said.

After the car was set afire outside, the Rev. Mr. King said he had called on President Kennedy to ask for more help.

Almost simultaneously the governor acted. His proclamation of martial law called on the state adjutant general, Henry V. Graham, to take whatever steps are necessary to restore law and order.

Reporter Struck By Bottle

During the riot scenes were aimed at federal officers and at newsmen covering the rally. Someone hurled a rock through the telephone booth from which UPI reporter Don Martin was calling in his story. A pitched soft drink bottle also hit him but Martin was not badly hurt.

Events moved swiftly during the day.

A force of about 400 U.S. officers converged on Montgomery from Washington and the southern states under orders from Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy to assure enforcement of federal laws.

White House News Favoritism Charged

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—A Pennsylvania, advised editors to check whether their capital correspondents are "liked" by the White House. This, Scott said, seems to be the criterion for the availability of some news stories.

The senator, Hugh Scott of

He accused the administration of "toying with the public's right to know" in a speech for the Pennsylvania Association of Broadcasters.

Scott said he had been told that at a private dinner party at Palm Beach, Fla., May 13, Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, confided "to a few favorite correspondents" that President Kennedy would meet with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

"The lucky correspondents used the story on Sunday — the next day — and for the next several days all other correspondents tried desperately to put the pieces together," Scott said.

"The only official statement from Mr. Salinger was that, 'There are no plans for any such meeting at present.'"

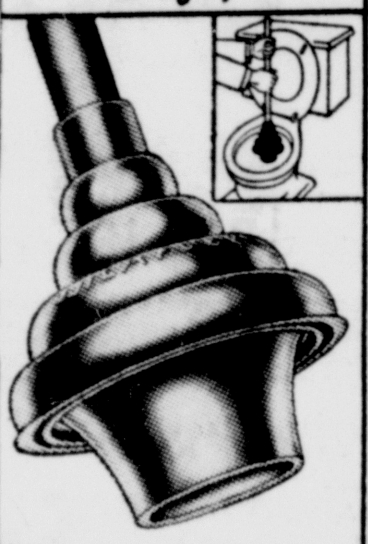

A month earlier, Scott said, a reporter at the Key West, Fla., meeting between Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said Salinger set up a press briefing by Charles E. Bohlen, State Department expert on Soviet affairs.

Scott added: "Some of the regular White House correspondents were excluded 'obviously because their papers were not 100 per cent behind the administration', this reporter said. Later, when these newsmen protested, Salinger said there had not been any briefing."

Covered Wagon Trek Going Well Despite Traffic

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP)—A retired Pennsylvania tree surgeon with a 75-year-old Conestoga wagon completed his first week of highway rigors Sunday on a pilgrimage from Pottstown, Pa., to Maryland's Eastern Shore.

As 58-year-old Warren C. Holden hitched his two-horse team in front of the town jail here, he reported that the trip was going well. He said he, his two horses, Rosie and Major, and his sheepdog were in good health.

Holden said he undertook the 200-mile trip to gain confidence in his health. He said he wanted to prove—after having suffered a near-fatal stroke last year—that he had recovered completely. He has been sleeping and eating in the wagon along the way.

Holden said a major problem of the trip was the heavy traffic he was encountering on main roads.

Montgomery

Integration leaders began gathering here for a major assault on segregation in Alabama. King cancelled a speaking engagement in New Hampshire to fly here. It was King who led Montgomery Negroes' original campaign against segregation on city buses three years ago.

The "freedom riders," all students from Nashville, Tenn., had set out to challenge segregation laws in buses and waiting rooms. They were met at the bus terminal here Saturday by club-swinging whites directed by a man puffing on a big cigar.

Negro leaders, speaking through the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in Atlanta (SCLC), said student and adult groups from all over the nation had asked if they could help Montgomery Negroes. The Rev. Ralph Abernathy of Montgomery and Wyatt Tee Walker of Atlanta said "groups from all parts of the nation will travel by bus through the South to determine whether constitutional rights to safety from violence while exercising the privileges of American citizens is, in fact, a reality."

The concentration of forces in Montgomery, while apparently accidental, appeared symbolic.

Montgomery was the cradle of the old Confederacy, its first capital, where its president was chosen. Defiance of bus segregation in Montgomery is, in effect, kicking a dead horse—Montgomery Negroes by an 18-month boycott ended segregation on city buses in 1957 under the leadership of Rev. King.

Alabama is one of the three Deep South states with no public school or state university integration. A Negro girl admitted to the University of Alabama in 1956, Autherine Lucy, was expelled after student riots.

Reds See Talks Failing If JFK 'Talks Tough'

GENEVA (UPI)—Soviet diplomats issued veiled warnings Sunday that President Kennedy will meet with failure if he "talks tough" with Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev at their forthcoming meeting in Vienna.

They referred to reports from Washington that the President intended to confront Khrushchev with a firm "so far, no further" notice against Communist penetration anywhere in the world.

Soviet diplomats, here in strength to attend the 14-nation conference on Laos and led by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, have welcomed the scheduled meeting of Khrushchev and Kennedy.

But they spread the word in the conference lobbies that any American attempt to "intimidate" Russia at Vienna or to revive the much maligned strategy of "negotiating from strength" would spell certain failure of the meeting.

Soviet reaction to the summit has generally been guarded and reserved. It contrasted markedly with the professed enthusiasm that preceded the 1959 Camp David meeting of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Khrushchev and the two full-dress summit conferences in Geneva in 1955 and to a lesser degree that in Paris last spring.

Eichmann Trial Heading Into Boris Death Mystery

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Eichmann trial is moving into one of the mysteries of World War II—the death of King Boris of Bulgaria.

Israel contends Boris was murdered by the Nazis for blocking their plans to deport and kill Bulgaria's 48,000 Jews.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Yaakov Bar'or will open the seventh week of the trial of Adolf Eichmann Monday with a broad picture of the pogrom in Bulgaria and Greece.

And he said in an interview: "Boris was a hero. He absolutely blocked Eichmann and protected Bulgaria's Jews."

Through documents, Bar'or said he would prove:

1. Eichmann, directing the Gestapo's bureau for "the final solution of the Jewish problem," started a campaign in July 1942 to prevail on the Nazi Foreign Ministry for "action" against Bulgaria's Jews.

2. King Boris stood firm against deporting Jews of Bulgarian citizenship. He was able to hold Eichmann off by allowing deportation of 20,000 Jews from Macedonia and Thrace, parts of Greece put under the "new Bulgaria" by the Nazi conquerors.

3. King Boris died Aug. 28, 1943. One report was that he had a heart attack. Nazi documents

Howard, 82, collapsed while taking a curtain call on the stage of the Chicago Civic Opera House during a benefit performance. He wrote more than 500 songs including "Hello, My Baby," "Remember Pearl Harbor" and "A Boy's Best Friend is His Mother."

Kennedy Hears Plea For Racial Harmony

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (UPI)—President Kennedy heard his pastor call Sunday for daily prayers and sacrifices to bring world peace and to end racial tensions marked by violence against "freedom riders" in Alabama.

"It's not enough to be interested and concerned about our international problems and our racial tensions at home highlighted by the freedom riders in recent days," Rev. Albert F. Pereira said at a Mass attended by the President and Mrs. Kennedy. "We must pray daily, and offer up sacrifices for international peace and racial love."

Is your family's financial security program as up-to-date as your family? Find out with a FAMILY SECURITY CHECK-UP

Every father knows that his family's needs change from year to year. Perhaps there's a new baby...or a new house...or a teen-ager thinking of college. These are just some of the reasons why every father should have a thorough review of his family's security program regularly—whether he needs insurance or not.

What you could lose without one

There are mistakes, oversights, gaps in the average man's financial security program. Too much of it is haphazard. Too much of it is left to chance. It lacks a plan. Or, too often, it simply falls behind the times.

For example, the Social Security law has been changed nine times since its inception. And the Social Security benefits your wife and children could get may not dovetail efficiently with your pension or insurance programs. Then too—you can unintentionally "disinherit" a child, in effect, if you have overlooked naming him among your beneficiaries.

More than an interview—a service

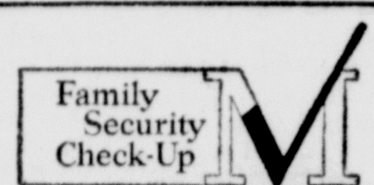

Metropolitan, the Company you look to for authoritative information on physical health, offers a way to check up on your family's financial health.

Metropolitan representatives have been trained in Metropolitan's own schools and are qualified by solid experience to bring you this Family Security Check-Up service. They are equipped with businesslike charts and tables that show you exactly where you stand.

Whether you need insurance or not, this service makes sense. Remember, Metropolitan is as local as Main Street—as close as your phone. Call your Metropolitan man today.

There is no obligation—except to those you love.

State Sen. North Assails Move To Block Case Bill

BALTIMORE (AP)—State Sen. John-Clarence North, D-Talbot, has added his voice to those criticizing a move to block a savings and loan regulation act of the 1961 General Assembly.

North said Saturday an attack headed by Baltimore attorney Richard W. Case, is scheduled to go into effect June 1. It would put Maryland's billion dollar savings and loan industry under state regulation.

Some of Pollack's followers have been active in a referendum petition drive which, if successful, would delay effect of the law until the voters pass on it in November 1962.

Gov. Tawes has said he will call a special session of the General Assembly to re-enact the Case Bill and the Baltimore Municipal Court Bill as emergency measures if petition drives against them succeed.

Pollack said voters are "being brainwashed by some editors of newspapers and certain officers of lending institutions hoping to keep mortgagors chained to building associations and thereby deny to the mortgagors the right to borrow money elsewhere at lower rates."

North, one of the leading supporters of the bill in the legislature, said "it is outrageous that a citizen of Maryland should complain about the regulation by the state of the use of deposits made by its citizens of the state."

"The very thing the state is trying to protect is the investment portfolios of the building and loan associations," he said.

Pollack denounced a part of the act which forbids a second mortgage loan by a building association which does not hold the first mortgage.

North termed this one of the most important provisions of the bill. "One of the principal reasons

Traffic Death Toll In State Reaches 134

By The Associated Press

An elderly Baltimore man was struck and killed by a car Saturday, raising the statewide highway death toll for the year to 134, compared with 213 for the same period last year.

The victim was John Barnes, 74, who was hit while crossing a street. The driver of the car was identified as Henry Boston, 32, also of Baltimore. Boston was charged with reckless driving, failing to grant the right of way to a pedestrian and speeding.

A Baltimore youth who had been hit by a car Monday died Saturday at Provident Hospital of his injuries. He was Charles Wynn, 17. The driver police said hit Wynn, Buckler M. Moore, 52, (of the 1300 block North Carey Street) was charged with reckless driving and failing to grant the right of way.

Called penny universities, the coffee houses of 17th Century England were seats of wit and learning. When Charles II closed them as places of sedition in 1675, the protest was so severe that he quickly revoked his proclamation.

All proceeds from the cards will be applied towards the new truck which the department is purchasing this year. This truck will be especially equipped for fighting fires in rural areas.

She calls herself a traditional folk singer and said, "I learned to sing before I learned to read in South Carolina where I was born, reared and educated."

She accompanies her singing by playing an Appalachian dulcimer, a true folk instrument in the strictest sense of the word. Dulcimers are made by folk handcraftsmen and have never been manufactured. No printed directions for their manufacture or notations of their playing have ever been found. Mrs. Elmers' dulcimer was made in Kentucky and has three strings; it is plucked with the fingers or a chicken quill.

For many years a social worker, Mrs. Elmers now classifies herself as a housewife. She is a personal friend and guest of Dr. Dorothy Howard, English Department, and her two programs at the college are sponsored jointly by Dr. Howard's classes in American literature and the College Student Union.

Westernport To Outlaw Use Of Air Rifles

Town Borrows
For Paving Fund

WESTERNPORT — The Town of Westernport will pass an ordinance making it unlawful to discharge BB guns and bow and arrows in the town.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., town attorney, who conferred with Mayor Ray L. Wilt and Town Council at their regular meeting recently was authorized to prepare the ordinance as to the regulation of the discharge of BB guns.

Attorney Whitworth advised the town the only way an ordinance could be enacted relative to the control of overweight trucks was in public parks which the town does not have at the present time. This is a state violation, he noted.

The town can call attention to the State Motor Vehicles Commission and urge strict enforcement here, he said.

All the ordinances of the town are being codified by Whitworth. When they are assembled obsolete local laws will be repealed and out-moded ordinance's will be revised and brought up-to-date.

The total cost of patching and paving a number of the town's streets has amounted to $32,869. Town officials are of the opinion there will be no funds for paving or patching next year.

It was authorized that $15,000 be borrowed from Citizens National Bank for paving costs.

Climbing Up To Another Summit

Sooner or later a meeting between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev seemed inevitable in the light of Mr. Kennedy's Inaugural Day observation: "Let us never negotiate out of fear, but let us never fear to negotiate."

Khrushchev has been trying for a Big Two get-together since Kennedy took office. If a Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting really is in prospect, the question immediately arises as to what sort of session it would be.

The history of past summit enterprises, whether formal or informal, bilateral or Big Four, should leave the President under no illusion as to what might be expected of Khrushchev.

The Soviet Premier has constantly dwelt upon the need for top-level consultations as a means of reducing international tensions. But when President Eisenhower acquiesced to private talks in Washington and Camp David in 1959, to cite only one instance, the result was practically all propaganda subsequently exploited by Khrushchev for his own purposes.

President Kennedy reportedly is anxious to seek a new approach to the problems of Southeast Asia and nuclear testing. Apparently he feels that this objective is important enough to warrant his departing from his original intention of shunning summit spectaculars for normal diplomatic channels.

But it is difficult not to be skeptical over any new venture in summitry.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Bold Defense

By accident I came across the singular fact that the Timken Roller Bearing Company has had the courage to put up a fight for freedom of speech and freedom of the press against the Internal Revenue Service which acts as a censorship agency.

Timken is suing the Government for $1,500,000 which it claims it has overpaid for income taxes, the Internal Revenue Service having taken upon itself the duty of deciding that advertising is not a cost of running a business. This expenditure was taxed as though it were profit not an expense.

The Treasury objects to institutional advertising, that is, the use of advertising space paid to attract attention but delivering a message instead of directly advocating the use of a product.

Institutional advertising is used because the advertiser finds that a message attracts greater attention to the product than boosting the product itself. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has for many years used its advertising space to tell about health. Its object is to prolong life. It is possible to say that the insurance companies are charitable organizations which love mankind and therefore seek to prolong life. On the other hand, these advertisements are keenly read because they are informative and are good business because they keep the name of the company before the public in a favorable manner. Whether it is a noble act or a gimmick, it is of value.

In the case of Timken, the Government objected to advertisements which . . . hailed the Spirit of Christmas, urged gifts to the United Fund, presenting the company's side of a controversy with a union, and promoting the city in which the company's plant was located in the hope of attracting other employers to the area.

The Internal Revenue Service apparently sets up a censorship of the contents of an advertisement, assuming that it can determine the motive for the employment of the space for something more than directly pushing a product. Timken, I read, sponsored broadcasts by Fulton Lewis and George Sokolsky. These, too, were disallowed as tax deduction, presumably because we did not tell the listener to buy bubble gum. Also small newspaper advertisements proclaiming such broadcasts were disallowed.

Perhaps Timken should have broadcasted that roller bearings are not to be eaten or chewed or fed to babies because they might kill the creature, but when used in machinery, no one could be hurt. Or maybe, the Internal Revenue Service prefers singers to speakers. I do not know what Fulton Lewis's singing voice is like, but the good Lord when he made provisions for Frank Sinatra and Sammy Davis Jr., probably felt that they were enough for one country and left me without a singing voice. I can always tell when another is off-key, but I have been told that I am always off-key. So I cannot do my piece in song which apparently is permissible, particularly if no one understands the words. The Internal Revenue Service's censor must be very weary of such words as moon and June which are deductible because they are not controversial.

Businesses are taxed 52 per cent of net profit. Naturally, the accountants take off expenses of all kinds before they determine the net profit. The President has been appealing for business to provide more jobs, but the Treasury has been taking steps not only to price American goods out of all markets, including the American, but to give the European and Asiatic competitor every possible advantage.

This is particularly true as regards expense accounts. A West German salesman can afford to make the prospective customer to feel salubrious and willing by the normal processes of capitalistic sales procedures, namely, an excellent dinner, theater parties, flowers for the customer's wife, etc., etc. The American salesman is forced to justify his expenditures, providing details of the process, which can be embarrassing. We may be very virtuous but goods will not be sold that way and never were.

Perhaps the Internal Revenue Service needs an advertisement consultant so that someone might know of the developments in forensic business since the days when the principal advertisements were patent medicines and trusses. There has been progress even if the Internal Revenue Service did not hear of it.

'I Think I Feel Another Summit Coming On'

Administration Stirs Integration Controversy

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — An agitation started by spokesmen for the Kennedy Administration is stirring up quite a controversy not only over the admission of Negroes to private clubs but their inclusion at cocktail parties and dinners in private homes.

The idea of "token" participation seems to have been rejected as unsatisfactory by many advocates of "integration," the argument being that to select a few is a kind of hypocrisy and that full participation on the basis of the proportion to population is much more equitable.

About 54 per cent of the population of the national capital is Negro, so it is being argued that there must be "equality" and that a failure to provide an equal number of Negroes at cocktail parties and at official as well as private dinners is a form of "discrimination."

Two members of the Kennedy Cabinet have spoken out on the subject of admission of Negroes to private clubs, but there has been no indication from them as to the quantitative formula to be used in determining how many should be admitted. Nor is there any clarification as yet as to what the Kennedy Administration intends to do to coerce the private clubs to do its bidding. Taking away tax exemptions is one device often mentioned.

The public discussion was strated by Attorney General Robert Kennedy and Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg, Mr. Kennedy in a television interview spoke of private clubs here that do not admit Negroes, and added:

"And, as I say, if we're going to practice what we preach we're going to have to take steps forward in all sections of the United States."

Secretary Goldberg, in a public address recently in New York, said:

"I find it difficult to understand why, in the houses I have frequented socially, the dinner parties, the cocktail parties, I have rarely seen Negroes as guests. This is particularly marked among intellectuals and liberals in our large cities, particularly in New York City and Chicago. Are there no Negro writers, composers, artists, academicians with whom one can break bread, with whom one can engage in intellectual discourse?"

There are, of course, many of us, irrespective of race or creed or color, who are never able to engage in "intellectual discourse" anyway, but, assuming that there are a fortunate few who can do so, the question arises as to what the Administration here has to do with it. The Supreme Court of the United States in recent decisions has upheld "freedom of association" for individuals, but this was in a case involving alleged Communists, rather than non-

Communists, so perhaps it doesn't apply to everybody.

Maybe the first thing to do is to get the facts. If there be inside the Kennedy Administration many officials who are capable of engaging in "intellectual discourse," then indeed it might be asked whether lately they have been inviting any Negro couples to their cocktail parties and dinners.

So far as is known, the times that Negroes are prominent in official functions are rare—usually only when ambassadors from African nations are being entertained. Certainly no one has heard of an equal number of Negroes and whites being present at any official dinners and receptions to which the general public have been invited.

Many official functions have been held in Washington recently at which no Negroes were present. In political-campaign years, there are some, of course. Political dinners by the Republicans have for decades included some of the Negro politicians and their wives. Only in more recent times have the Democrats in the North done the same. But, as far as is known, the Kennedy Administration has not invited any quotas of Negroes for cocktail parties or dinners, though it could be that no functions have been held as yet at which "Negro writers, composers, artists, academicians" could find anyone with whom they could engage in "intellectual discourse."

What's needed around Washington, to be sure, are some standards and formulas to take care of the weighty problem of the invitation lists for dinners and cocktail parties—there doesn't seem to be enough worries to go around besides Laos and Cuba.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

THE TREASURY — For many years, members of the House Ways and Means Committee have gone out of their way to demonstrate their great familiarity with the nation's tax laws to secretaries of the Treasury. These members of Congress, who write the nation's tax laws, have resented the lack of familiarity with taxes shown by some past Treasury heads.

It's been sort of a game. One committee member would ask the Cabinet officer a question, and before he could reply, another would ask an amplifying question, forcing the Treasury head to refer his questioner to a department "expert." Many times the purpose was not to elicit a response, but to remind the official that he should know more than he does about the laws he is charged with enforcing.

However, all this has changed. Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon, appearing before the committee as a witness, has displayed a remarkable knowledge of federal tax law. He has played the game well with committee members — so well in fact that on several occasions he has been able to turn the tables, forcing the members to refer to their own staff experts.

It's all been good, clean fun. And a by-product has been increased mutual respect between Congress and the Treasury Department which should result in better administration or federal tax laws.

What To Do About Car And Home Accidents?

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Auto accidents are like the weather; everyone writes about them but no one does anything about them. A recent article mentioning a few suggestions on highway safety brought dozens of letters with additional ideas.

A Chicagoan voices the sentiments of most of our readers when he says, "Give us slower, more rugged, and more economical cars. For our own good, horsepower and speed must be taken from us." This man also hits the nail on the head in comparing the average driver and his auto to a child with matches; the driver is not mature enough to handle a lethal weapon. We forget that people are precious. We ought to think of others when driving, despite the popularity of the slogan, "The life you save may be your own."

Try And Stop Me

Comedian Myron Cohen was one of a party of three who sought a midnight snack at a Broadway delicatessen. His first friend settled on a baked apple. The waiter sneered, "You can get because we've got, but I tell you now they're mushy, tasteless, and out of season."

The second said, "I believe I'll have a Danish, toasted." "Toasted?" echoed the waiter. "You are crazy. Our Danish is hot off the stove already. What do you want I should do? Burn it to a crisp? Take it like it is."

Cohen himself decided to play it safe. "I can't make up my mind. Waiter, what do you think I should take?"

The waiter regarded him with profound disgust. "Mister," he said, "I got nine tables to take care of. Who's got time for suggestions?"

Actor Hans Conreid reports that business for a drive-in restaurant on Route 66 has been so dismal lately that the management erected a sign reading, "Please do not eat the grass."

FCC Gets Complaints Against TV Violence After Minow's Speech

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Complaints against TV "blood and thunder, mayhem, violence, sadism, murder, western badmen, private eyes, and more violence" are being carefully noted by the Federal Communications Commission now that Chairman Newton Minow has promised to let the public help determine whether Radio-TV licenses should be renewed.

In his celebrated speech to the nation's broadcasters, Minow served notice: "I want the people who own the air and the homes that television enters to tell you and the FCC what's been going on. I want the people — if they are truly interested in the service you give them — to make notes, document cases, tell us the facts. The FCC has a fine reserve of monitors — almost 180,000,000 Americans gathered around 56,000,000 sets. If you want those monitors to be your friends at court, it's up to you."

Meanwhile, from the small community of Wauseon, Ohio, more than 330 protests have come into the FCC against crime programs. For this placid community has been jolted by two juvenile stabbings, acts that had been unknown in Wauseon until TV violence entered over government-licensed ether waves.

Wrote Prosecuting Attorney John H. Barber to the FCC: "I am writing as Prosecuting Attorney of Fulton County in regard to excessive showing of programs of crime, violence, and drinking on TV for the consumption of our youth. I have become increasingly alarmed in recent months due to the fact that we had a case where a 13-year-old boy stabbed to death a 12-year-old girl on a school bus.

"Further, I have this date completed disposition of a case where a 13-year-old boy out of a grudge stabbed his school principal with a five-inch knife, intending to kill. All of this in a small farm county of 30,000 population. We have never had anything like either one of these cases in this county before.

"While we do not have any definite casual relation to TV, we do know both boys had free access to their TV sets and spent considerable time watching pictures of crime and violence. I would therefore enlist your every effort to remove this type of picture from TV and substitute programs of a constructive nature. A dangerous trend has been established here, and we need every help to counteract it if at all possible."

The same complaint was repeated in the other letters from Wauseon.

"I am just wondering," wrote Mrs. Glen Ernsberger, "What goes on in the heads of my five young grandchildren when they see these TV programs?"

Mrs. Harry Schwall complained that crime programs "make fearless, courageous heroes out of insulting and vicious criminals, and teach that crime pays."

Another lady wrote that her three-year-old son, when informed his uncle had died, wanted to know: "who shot him?"

Note — To clean up the bloodshed on television, viewers should identify the show and describe the offensive incident in their letters to the FCC.

Hero Of Under Space

While the President and the nation were giving a hero's welcome to Astronaut Alan Shepard, the Pentagon was giving the run-around to America's hero of the deep.

About the same time Commander Shepard was getting the plaudits of the multitude, another young Naval officer, Lieut. Don Walsh, arrived at the Pentagon to urge more exploration of underwater space.

It happens that, while we came out second to Russia in outer space, Lieut. Walsh put us ahead of Russia in under space. Last summer he picked the deepest spot in the Pacific and descended seven miles for the world's deepest dive.

The public, however, paid little attention to that historic achievement, and last week even the Navy seemed to have forgotten about it. It prepared to cut out further deep-sea exploration.

Meanwhile underocean exploration is not only essential to this age of atomic submarines, but important minerals are to be found on the ocean floor. Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington, a former Navy commander who has introduced a bill to push oceanography, has a collection of pure manganese in his office taken from the ocean off the California coast.

"If the United States ever gets short of minerals," he says, "And that time is not too far off in respect to some minerals — our most important supply will be from the ocean's bottom."

Last week earnest young Lieut. Walsh urged his Navy superiors to continue the deep-sea diving program. The Navy brass tried to brush him off. Finally, after some prodding from Senator Magnuson, they agreed to continue.

Behind The Scenes

The President's brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, isn't taking any special favors. He turned thumbs down on the Air Force offer of a personal plane to fly him around the world on his tour to plan for the Peace Corps. Instead, he went commercial. Cost? $3,400 a head for himself and three aides to Africa, India, Southeast Asia, the Philippines. An Air Force plane would have cost around $1,300 per flying hour. . . . Secretary of the Navy John Connally has threatened to resign — if Secretary of Defense McNamara goes ahead with a reorganization proposal which would make the secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force mere figureheads. Connally remarked to aides that if McNamara wanted an errand boy as Secretary of the Navy he would have to get someone else. . . . The Portuguese government has made secret overtures to South Africa to form a military alliance to keep Negroes from taking over both the Union of South Africa and Portuguese Angola.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Home . . . I'm not there yet. I'm on my way. But I don't have to close my eyes to see it: The house sits on a narrow point of land between the sea and the Shrewsbury River. It has been—let me see—seven months since I've seen it. In October, I went to Guantanamo to write a series of articles. Since then, I've spent time in Florida, Bahamas, New York.

Gayle stayed on awhile with her husband. They cleaned the house, upstairs and down, covered everything, and drove to Hialeah. There, at 17, she had her baby—the beautiful Elinor—and now the young mother is in a hospital with post-natal depression. Love is a demanding master. It can make a mother of a little tomboy overnight, whether she's ready or not.

My older daughter, Ginny, stayed at home raising her happy orphanage of four little plotters and two police dogs. It doesn't make her nervous. She has just been fitted for three extra eyes in the back of her head, and, sometimes when I have her on the phone, I hear her scream: "Pam, I'll kill you!" This is a form of mother love.

The only person in the house now is Mrs. Ralph Walter, my secretary. She's the best, Floranna—now there's a name—has a fair-sized family of her own. They live across the river in Rumson, where all the cowards hide from the wrath of the sea. One of her sons, Parry, is studying at the New York State Maritime Academy. He will be a ship's officer. The other, Frank, studies hotel administration at Cornell University.

Someone once wrote that home is where the heart is. Maybe, I love mine, but there has been sorrow in it as well as happiness. Some of the best, and worst times of my life are scarred on its walls. It's an old place with a gabled roof, and when I bought it, I ripped out all the walls inside and made them knotty pine, and ripped off all the shingles and changed to California redwood.

The garage became an office with bookshelves and desks. A big dropped living room was added on the river. A curved driveway was carved in the front lawn. An Italian fountain was added with sunken blue lights. An all electric kitchen with exhaust fans was put in. The cellar—I have one of the few cellars within 200 feet of the sea—is solid concrete and dry.

The cabin cruiser—Away We Go IV—is tied up on the river within 15 feet of the office. A half mile south is the village of Sea Bright, N. J. We call it a boro, but when the population is around 1,000, it's more like a pleasant sun-scrubbed village.

Farther down is Long Branch and, a little south, Asbury Park and Spring Lake. On a clear day, I stand on a little pavilion built on the sea wall and, looking north, I can see the spires of New York, 48 miles away. Down on the beach, the infant crabs make their first crooked tracks on the smooth sand.

This is home, for me. All of it is home—the Keelers next door, the Neville Russells on the other side; the Ship Ahoy Motel; and a hungry sea gull whom we call Gertrude. She sits on a piling behind the house and cries for food. In the village we have a first aid station, a volunteer fire department, a paid police department, a mayor, Thomas Farrell, and a pleasant clerk, Joan Axelsen.

Of course, the Boston Bully Boy Sullivan, the Boston Bully Boy, who owns a tavern and a pool table. He's a handsome character, if you like them Irish, fat and white-haired. He is so distinguished that his girl friend calls him "senator." He lives rich and has roast beef for dessert.

Across the street is the old Peninsula House, where Bert Lahr and the idle rich used to live in the old days when Sea Bright was the lawn tennis capital of the country. Now, the four-mile stretch of sand called Sea Bright is polka-dotted with smart new motels. It seems ironic to me that, with an ocean on one side of the street and a river on the other, most of these motels built swimming pools.

I'm on my way home now. The hotel at which I stayed in New York is a good one, but I'm tired of waking up every time a maid turns a key in the lock to see whether she can make up the room. Also, it is going to be nice to be able to shut the telephone off.

Rocky and I will walk the beach again and I will throw pebbles across the foaming crests of the breakers. He will not move. He will watch it, and then look up at me. "Me go after that?" his eyes will say. "Are you some kind of a nut or something?"

What a big he-man he is. He's the only police dog I know who gets sea sick when the boat is still tied to the dock. A nice pink ribbon with a big bow would suit him fine.

But then — he's part of home too. . . .

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt

Preliminary data on the national census taken last year and just released reveals there are 100 women for every 97 men in the United States. They've got us outnumbered, fellows, but, for goodness sake, don't let 'em know it!

A Hungarian government official is accused of getting engaged to 32 women, bilking them out of a total of $52,500. Such Cupid-ity!

Dogs in the Alford, England, farm area have taken to killing dozens of sheep and chickens. Just got tired, no doubt, of being man's best friend.

Koufax's four-hitter gave the Dodgers a sweep of the three-game series and brought his record to 4-2. Billy Loes, the loser, had runners on base in each of the seven innings he worked but the Dodgers scored only in the fifth.

John Roseboro led off the Dodgers' fifth with his seventh home run of the season. One out later, Maury Wills walked and Jim Gilliam clouted a two-run homer, his second of the year.

OUTH

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm an airline stewardess who works odd hours. I have many friends, both pilots and stewardesses who come to visit me at dawn, midnight or whenever they get into town. People who are not in this field don't understand that hours mean nothing to us.

This morning the woman who lives in the next apartment poked her head out the door to pick up her newspaper. I was just getting mine. She gave me a cold stare and said, "I wonder if your mother knows what kind of life you're leading." Then she slammed the door.

Why are some characters so evil-minded? What can I do to keep people from thinking the wrong things?

—MORALE GROUNDED

DEAR GROUNDED: Friends (male and female) coming and going at all hours of the day and night is unconventional behavior. Since you are in this type of work, however, you've got to learn to tolerate the raised eyebrows.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Experts advise washing African violet leaves with warm soapsuds, using a sponge or cotton wad and rinsing with warm water. Let leaves get completely dry before putting plants in sunshine.

In any way. Advise me please.—SEW WHAT

DEAR WHAT: Since you say you can make a dress "just like it" for one-fourth the price, I suggest you get busy and whip up a copy.

If you pull out of the ceremony after having accepted your "role" it will certainly create a problem between you and your future sister-in-law. It's not worth it. Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1961, Field Enterprises, Inc.)

Much to my surprise (as well as the disappointment of the other girls) the bride-to-be made the selection on her own. We were told to go to the shop for fittings and that was that.

I am 25, divorced and supporting a small child. The gown she selected would look good on a 17-year-old attending her first prom. I make all my own clothes and feel unhappy about spending this kind of money on a dress I don't like and will never wear again, especially since I could make one just like it for one-fourth the price.

Shall I tell her I can't afford the honor? I hate to hurt my brother

Coren On Bridge

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠10 6 3 ♥A 6 ♦K J 9 3 ♣A Q 10 2

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
1 NT Pass 2 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Three clubs. Although partner's two club call is not forcing when opener's rebid has been one no trump he is permitted to pass anything less than a jump bid. You should take further action inasmuch as your values should fit North's hand admirably. A five club contract may hinge on his having a few key cards and in any event he can hardly play you for too much after the one no trump rebid.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠Q 10 6 4 3 ♥8 5 2 ♦K 2 ♣7 4 3

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
2 ♦ Pass 2 NT Pass
2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Six spades. We cannot conceive of any sort of demand opening that partner might hold which would not be a lay-down for slam. Your spades and diamonds should solidify his suits so that if he holds the other controls, he may be in position to go all the way.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠A 10 8 ♥5 4 ♦9 5 4 ♣A K J 8 2

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
1 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Inasmuch as you have a solid opening bid facing a partner who has opened and jumped, you must think in terms of slam and, as a temporizing measure, you should bid three spades, which partner in the subsequent bidding will recognize as the ace. It is presumed, of course, that hearts are the agreed trumps.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠K 3 ♥9 8 7 ♦A 10 9 6 5 ♣Q 9 2

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass 1 NT Pass Pass
Double Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—You have splendid defense against a no trump contract and should pass. We have not lost sight of partner's previous pass but, in view of the fact that he was willing to double a no trump bid, he must be just under an opening bid himself. It is plain to be seen that dummy will be trickless, and this places quite a job on East's shoulders.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠K J 2 ♥K 9 ♦A 9 7 6 5 3 ♣10 2

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 3 ♦ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—We recommend taking a chance on a three no trump bid. Partner has shown better than an average hand by his two forward responses, and there is a good chance that you will be able to run the diamond suit. A lead up to one of your kings should prove helpful, and there appears a reasonable prospect of collecting nine tricks.

Q. 6—East-West vulnerable and as South you hold:
♠J 9 6 5 2 ♥8 5 3 ♦6 ♣9 6 2

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass 1 ♣ Double Pass
Pass 1 ♣ Double Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—One no trump, with this minimum hand it is better not to give an immediate raise even though you have adequate trump support.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠A 7 5 ♥K 8 6 ♦Q J 9 5 2 ♣K 4

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
1 ♣ Pass 1 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—In our vernacular you have run out of bids and should sit back and let partner take over. Do not permit the singleton heart to convert you into a nursemaid. You should proceed under the assumption that partner was tuned in when you bid spades three times. If he has chosen to overrule you, it must be with a suit that is at least as good as yours—and probably better.

Q. 8—As South you hold:

The bidding has proceeded:

Diesel Repair Center Given Top Rating

Will Maintain Half Of B&O's Power

The diesel locomotive repair center being pushed into full production here by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is rated as one of the largest and most modern in the nation.

The Cumberland facility is featured in the current issue of the B & O Magazine, which said about half of the railroad's diesel road power will be maintained at the Cumberland facility.

The new diesel center is a companion to the modernized Cumberland Yards opened here last year. It is one of the most modern classification yards in the country and the biggest on the B & O system.

The diesel repair center which opened recently in Cumberland, the B & O said, features a "progressive line operation" similar to the assembly-line methods used by the automotive industry for building cars.

Is Big Advance

When placed in operation this March with a one-trick work force on a seven-day a week basis, the new maintenance center was capable of inspecting and repairing six locomotives each eight-hour day, or 180 units a month.

A second trick was to be added this month, increasing production to 360 units a month, and by July the shop is scheduled to be on a round-the-clock, seven-day-a-week basis with the addition of a third track.

This peak production will mean that the center is capable of turning 540 locomotives out of the shop in good condition each month.

B & O motive power men, the magazine said, are calling the new shop the "most significant advance since 100% dieselization of the road."

Located in former Cumberland Back Shop quarters, the new facility provides a series of seven work stations located on a single track.

Along the track are elevated steel platforms and a recessed pit, making it easy for workers to reach every part of a diesel locomotive with a minimum of effort and a maximum of safety.

Diesel repairmen skilled in the particular work to be done are located at each station, so the performance of each craft does not conflict with that of another.

Tools Are Handy

Arranged in racks behind each work stop are the modern tools, parts and equipment needed to perform repairs assigned to that station.

All work is carefully scheduled, the B & O said, with 70 minutes allotted for completion of repairs at each work station.

The timing allows the center to keep a continuous line of locomotives moving along the maintenance line at regular intervals, receiving full inspection and any needed repairs as they go.

When units are ready to move from station to station, the shop foreman presses a button which operates a safety alarm.

Entering Cumberland Diesel Shop, each locomotive goes first to Work Station 1 for preliminary inspection. Located in the open air, outside the shop to protect workmen from gases and fumes, the station is covered by a shed designed to shield men from inclement weather.

At Work Stations 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, inside the shop, basic repair and inspection work is done. Finally, as each locomotive arrives at Work Station 7, located outside the shop at the far end of the progressive maintenance line, each engine is given a thorough cleaning, inside and out.

To keep locomotives moving into and out of the new shop on the steady, high-speed basis required by the progressive maintenance system, close coordination between B&O's motive power and transportation departments is essential.

Under present business conditions, the B&O said, the centralization of diesel repairs at Cumberland has become an operating necessity. In planning for the transfer of this work from other

Monroney Cites Need Of Action In Free Nation

Says Time Running Out For Americans

Michael Monroney, executive assistant to the Postmaster General, said here Saturday that "time is rapidly running out for us as free Americans to sit back and let our nation's fantastically rich reserve of innate strength and power carry us along."

"Our human and material resources constitute a gigantic battery," Monroney said, "but it cannot run forever without recharging."

Speaking before a dinner at Central YMCA sponsored by the Maryland Association of Postmasters, Monroney said that Americans everywhere can "help re-charge the nation's battery simply by accepting their responsibilities as members of a free society — and that means taking an active interest in public affairs."

The 34-year-old Marylander called attention to President Kennedy's recent list of sacrifices which Americans could make to stimulate the nation's economy, to help balance the Federal budget, and to combat the threat of Communism. "One of these sacrifices," Monroney told the postal group, "involves accepting postal rate increases which would add $831 million annually to Federal revenues."

The proposed one-cent first-class postal increases would raise $409 million in fiscal 1962, and the remainder would come from rate increases for air mail, parcel post, second-class and third-class mail, he said.

"You and other postal employees like you," Monroney noted, "can be a great help in this program by educating your patrons of the need for legislation to raise these postal rates. This rate increase would only cost the average American family one-half cent per day, and would wipe out the so-called postal deficit projected for fiscal year 1962."

Monroney also revealed what he described as "other critical problems facing our nation and free men everywhere."

He listed the need for government at all levels "to work for excellence in our educational system, to combat the despair and heartache for persistent unemployment in areas of labor surplus, to prevent the pollution of our two most valuable commodities — air and water, and to conserve our rapidly diminishing supply of forests, parklands and other natural resources."

"Possibly the most critically important task the nation has yet faced," Monroney observed, "is the threat of subversion of the free world by the Communist bloc. It was once said, and it is certainly true today, that man must reason in order to advance but he must believe in order to survive."

"We must believe in our democratic system if it is to survive," Monroney said, "And we must export American ideas and ideals, not just American dollars, if we are to win over the uncommitted millions of the world in whose hands lies the balance of power, and thus the fate of mankind."

A former Maryland reporter for The Washington Post, Monroney is a Montgomery County resident and was long active in Maryland politics prior to his present executive position in the Post Office Department.

Over 8,200 Tour ABL Facilities

Plant Observes 15th Anniversary

More than 8,200 persons of the tri-state area toured Allegany Ballistics Laboratory over the weekend.

The guided tours for ABL workers, their families and friends, were held to mark the 15th anniversary of the operation of the plant by the Hercules Powder Company for the Bureau of Naval Weapons.

The tours of the space age facility began Saturday, when some 3,600 persons visited the reservation.

Another 4,600 persons were taken on guided tours yesterday. Highlights of the tours were stops at the machine shop, chemistry laboratory, computing center, rocket testing range, pilot plant and the structures laboratory.

Graphic displays were arranged everywhere. On the rocket ranges, tour groups stood in the data acquisition center while a loudspeaker reported a simulated test firing. As the countdown approach the firing, the computer lights blinking and magnetic tapes whirling. The "firing" was a sustained roar from the loudspeaker.

Guests during the two days also saw several rockets which were developed in whole or in part at ABL, and at least one live grain — a solid propellant casting — was on display.

Duane H. Little, plant manager, and Lt. Cmdr. E. P. Lollin, branch representative of the Bureau of Naval Weapons, welcomed guests at an opening ceremony Saturday morning.

The tours were sponsored by the rocket facility to give workers, their families and friends a better insight into the contribution of the plant to the nation's rocket programs.

Civil War Unit To Participate In Sham Battle

Set For May 30 At Garden State

Five representatives of the Cumberland Continentals, Company C, Second Maryland Infantry Regiment, U. S. Volunteers, a reactivated Civil War Union Infantry Company, will participate in the annual Civil War battle re-enactment, Memorial Day, at Garden State Race Track, Camden, N. J.

Representing the Cumberland company will be Major Francis Haselberger, who is a member of Living History, Inc., and automatically has the right to go; Captain Robert Martin, Sgt. Major David Day, Ordnance Sgt. Alton Hoopengardner and Private Stanley Radcliffe.

Last year several reactivated Civil War Union and Confederate Infantry, Cavalry and artillery units from the surrounding states staged a sham battle at Garden State before a crowd of about 60,000. The historical re-enactment was one of the major factors that helped the racetrack win the coveted Freedom Foundation Medal, the first time any racetrack had been so honored.

Battle At Racetrack

The battle is held in the landscaped racetrack infield where building and redoubts have been constructed around the many small man-made lakes and bridges.

The local members will depart here May 30 at 1:30 a. m. for Hagerstown, the mobilization point. At Hagerstown all units will board buses while equipment, cannon and horses will be loaded into tractor-trailers. The assembled units will leave Hagerstown at 4 a. m. and arrive in Camden about 9 a. m. En route to Camden, unit commanders and key personnel will receive final briefings on the battle plans.

Other units participating will be Companies A & B, Second Maryland Infantry Regiment, Hagerstown; Farney's New York Marines, New York; Battery B, Second New Jersey Artillery, New Jersey; and Battery F, First West Virginia Artillery, Harpers Ferry, W. Va., all Union companies.

Company H, first Maryland Infantry Regiment, Hagerstown; Company B, 17th Virginia Infantry Regiment, Front Royal; Battery A, Fourth Maryland Artillery, Hagerstown; Troop A, Fourth Maryland Cavalry, Clear Spring, and First Virginia Light Horse Cavalry, Brunswick, Confederate units.

First Local Appearance Set

The Continentals, based on the observations and recommendations of its representatives, will decide in June whether the unit will join Living History Inc. If they do the entire unit will be able to participate in other Living History events, including the Great Eastern Exposition to be held in Springfield, Mass., in September. The Continentals are planning to make their first official local appearance June 8, re-enacting the occupation of Cumberland in June 1861 by General (then Colonel) Lew Wallace's 11th Indiana Zouaves.

All interested volunteers 21 years or older are invited to join the Cumberland Continentals. The next regular meeting will be held on the third floor of the Moose Home May 29 at 7:30 p. m.
